The 2015 Sapperton Day Street Festival is a non-profit community event put together by the Sapperton Business Association with some help from local businesses and its friends in the community. This is its 13th consecutive year after returning from a short hiatus. Sapperton Days has been around since the early 1970's.

The area of Sapperton (New Westminster, B.C.) was established by the Royal Engineers, the Sappers, in 1859. The event will take place on the 400 Block of East Columbia Street, the oldest street in the province.

All proceeds raised on the day of the event will be donated to the Royal Columbian Hospital Foundation's to raise funds for critically needed equipment, research and innovation and to ensure the best medical standards for the future.

- Last year's festival donated $13,000 to support their campaign goals.
- Royal Columbian Hospital cares for 1.6 million people (one in three British Columbians) from Burnaby to Boston Bar. 85% of patients treated at RCH come from outside New Westminster. RCH is responsible for treating the most critically ill and injured patients in the province in the areas of child and adult trauma, cardiac and stroke care, aneurysms, high risk maternity and premature babies.

Come join us to celebrate the beginning of summer and the deep history of the community. We will be having live street performers, musical groups, bouncy castles, clowns, games, mini donuts, pancake breakfast, rock climbing wall, market place vendors and much, much, more
